■ Changing the Face of Family Law

LSL Family Law was founded in 2017 by Linda Lamb with a clear purpose: to revolutionise how family law is practiced. Her vision was to create a modern, responsive practice free from rigid hierarchies. Where talented professionals could deliver exceptional, consistent client care without the constraints and rigidity of traditional legal models.

At LSL, we specialise in forward-thinking, non-court family law solutions, including hybrid and child-inclusive mediation, collaborative law, and arbitration. Our fully remote, consultant-led structure empowers experienced solicitors and mediators to work with true flexibility and independence, balancing their professional ambitions with personal wellbeing. The freedom is supported by innovative technology, seamless onboarding, and a deeply collaborative team culture.

We believe that consistency and responsiveness are not just ideals, they are core commitments that define our service. Combined with a culture that values work-life balance, our consultants are freed from administrative burdens through tools like Settify, Leap, and intelligent compliance systems, enabling them to focus entirely on their clients. This commitment to efficiency, empathy and flexibility has earned us a 5-star rating on Review Solicitors and the trust of families across the country.

If you're ready to leave behind the limitations of traditional law firms and join a progressive boutique practice that champions autonomy, innovation, and client-first excellence – we'd love to hear from you.

■ Why They Chose LSL - Real Experience - Real Freedom

At LSL Family Law, our consultants shape their careers with flexibility, support and autonomy. But don't just take our word for it. Tanya's Story offers a personal insight into the freedom, balance and professional growth that comes with joining LSL.

Tanya's Story....

I am now in my fifth year as a consultant with LSL Family Law - and the time has flown by.

I was initially drawn to consultancy with LSL because of the flexibility and autonomy it offers, combined with a genuinely supportive and collaborative environment that values dispute resolution. I can genuinely say that the experience has exceeded my expectations.

I truly value the supportive culture at LSL. Linda is consistently generous in sharing her expertise and insight, and our remote working model has never diminished that support. We make the time to meet in person whenever possible too (usually over great food, lots of laughs, and the occasional drink!) all which reinforces our sense of connection as a team.

One of the greatest strengths of the consultancy model is the ability to shape your practice in a way that aligns with your personal and professional goals. There are no imposed targets or rigid structures - I am free to work in a way that I decide suits both my clients and personal life.

I have also have the opportunity to expand my qualifications and further develop my practice. Linda is a strong advocate for personal and professional growth, fostering an environment where this is both supported and encouraged.

For any experienced family lawyer considering consultancy, LSL Family Law offers an exceptional balance: freedom, flexibility, a strong support network and a truly client-focused approach to practice.
